Significantly, in early on in the process of introducing electrical systems, Thomas Edison concentrated his dynamo system in lower Manhattan, targeted because of the presence of both powerful financial institutions and newspapers, believed to provide the benefit of promoting these innovations. He also was given the charge by Edison to go to Europe and light up London, because he was so confident in knowing how to use that technology.

He is particularly deft in discussing the crucial role played by the democrat misleading. REHM Why would he torture an elephant?
